

Practical tips for shipping your watch

Our checklist for a smooth shipping process:

- Have you thought about the shipping costs?
  - It's best to take shipping costs in account before you create an ad
- Are you aware of any applicable customs regulations?
  - Research the customs regulations of the respective country and include all required documents in the shipment
  - Familiarize yourself with the legal regulations (e.g., for alligator leather straps)
  - Register your shipment with customs in advance
- Is the watch packaged safely?
  - Use a properly sized box with enough suitable packaging material
  - The watch must be safely packaged in its box and shipping container
- Is the watch fully insured?
  - Choose a shipping method that insures your watch for its full value against damage or loss
- Is the address written correctly?
  - Make sure you write the complete, correct address legibly on the package or shipping document
- Have you sent the tracking ID to the buyer?
  - Have you sent the package's tracking ID to the buyer? This allows the buyer to track their package
